

Spring

When spring comes,
with the animals too.

And the birds fill the sky, with twinkles in their eyes.

As the flowers fill the earth, with colors of the rainbow,

the buds spring loose,

shimmering bright on the trees.

The bunnies hop out of their hiding places,
ready to show their hops,

upon the green grass,
where the butterflies fly.

If you listen very closely,
you might hear the nature singing.

So just let your imagination fly, with the wonders of spring.

~Chelsea Winston